

INSTRUCTIONGrouping for InstructionGenerally

The Stafford County School Board recognizes the different educational needs of students and endorses the use of flexible assignment of students for instruction. In an effort to foster maximum student growth, intellectually, socially, and vocationally, the elementary school program shall use heterogeneous grouping of students for learning, with regrouping for instructional purposes. Heterogeneous grouping should be used for the assignment of students at the middle school level with regrouping for instruction where appropriate. Generally, at the high school level, students are grouped according to course selection.
